1. Reading Comprehension (10 Questions)

Directions (Q1–Q10): Read the passage below carefully and answer the questions that follow based strictly on the text and context.

The launch of the National Logistics Policy (NLP) in September 2022 marked a structural pivot in India's macroeconomic strategy. Historical supply-chain inefficiencies—translating to logistics costs hovering around 13–14% of gross domestic product (GDP)—have long constrained export competitiveness relative to developed nations, where logistics costs are maintained within single digits. The NLP seeks to bridge this gap through multi-modal connectivity, digital integration, and streamlined regulatory clearance mechanisms. Simultaneously, India's broader external positioning saw significant cultural and defense developments. Varanasi's nomination as the first-ever Shanghai Cooperation Organization (SCO) Tourism and Cultural Capital for 2022–23 underscored India's soft-power diplomacy across Eurasia. On the maritime front, the commissioning of INS Vikrant, India's first indigenously constructed aircraft carrier, alongside the retirement of the colonial-era naval ensign, marked a decisive transition toward military self-reliance (Atmanirbharata). However, domestic fiscal challenges remain intertwined with structural shifts in energy security and environmental commitments. Initiatives such as PM-SHRI, targeting the modernization of over 14,000 public schools, signal a parallel push to build human capital alongside hard physical infrastructure.

Question 1: According to the passage, what is the primary objective of the National Logistics Policy (NLP)?

- (A) To replace all foreign-built logistics technology with indigenous software.
- (B) To reduce logistics costs as a percentage of GDP from 13–14% to single-digit figures.
- (C) To restrict maritime commerce exclusively to indigenously manufactured vessels like INS Vikrant.
- (D) To divert government funding from public education toward port infrastructure.
- (E) To standardize SCO trade tariffs across Eurasia.

Question 2: Why is Varanasi's nomination by the SCO significant according to the text?

- (A) It establishes Varanasi as the central financial clearing house for Eurasian military trade.
- (B) It marks Varanasi as the headquarters of the new National Logistics Policy network.
- (C) It highlights India's soft-power diplomacy within the Eurasian regional framework.
- (D) It replaces colonial ensigns with indigenous cultural symbols.

(E) It represents India's sole export hub under the multi-modal transit system.

Question 3: What dual significance accompanied the commissioning of INS Vikrant in September 2022?

- (A) The launching of PM-SHRI and the signing of the SCO cultural treaty.
- (B) The reduction of export tariffs and the creation of a new Eurasian trade route.
- (C) The introduction of an indigenous aircraft carrier and the adoption of a new naval ensign reflecting self-reliance.
- (D) The expansion of the National Logistics Policy to naval ports and airbases.
- (E) The integration of educational schemes with naval technical training programs.

Question 4: Which of the following can be inferred regarding India's competitiveness in international trade prior to the NLP?

- (A) High domestic logistics costs placed Indian exports at a price disadvantage compared to developed countries.
- (B) India's soft power was completely suppressed due to inadequate port infrastructure.
- (C) Indian goods were banned in SCO member nations due to regulatory delays.
- (D) Educational underfunding was the sole driver of high export costs.

(E) Lack of indigenously built naval carriers limited commercial shipping routes.

Question 5: What is the core focus of the PM-SHRI scheme mentioned in the passage?

- (A) Modernizing naval defense academies across coastal states.
- (B) Subsidizing freight transport for small-scale manufacturers.
- (C) Upgrading and modernizing a select network of public schools to enhance human capital.
- (D) Developing digital clearance systems for SCO cross-border trade.
- (E) Transitioning thermal power plants to clean energy.
