Reading Comprehension Passage

The Passage: The Great Transition of 2026

By April 2026, the global economy has entered a phase known as "The Dual Pivot." Nations are simultaneously navigating the total integration of Generative AI into public infrastructure and an accelerated departure from fossil fuels following the record-breaking heatwaves of 2025. In India, the "Digital Population Census" has become a blueprint for developing nations, utilizing blockchain to ensure data integrity.

However, this progress is shadowed by "Silicon Protectionism." Major powers have begun restricting the export of sub-2nm chips, leading to a fragmented tech landscape. Meanwhile, the "Green Corridor" initiative in Africa has seen its first success, with the Inga Falls hydro-project finally powering three neighboring countries, signaling a shift in continental self-reliance.

Word of the Day: "Optimized": Optimized refers to the process of making a system, design, or process as effective, functional, and efficient as possible by fine-tuning its components and performance.

In today's digital ecosystem, systems developed by companies like Netflix and Google are highly optimized—they continuously refine algorithms, data processing techniques, and infrastructure to achieve peak performance. This optimization ensures faster load times, improved resource allocation, and enhanced user experiences. As a result, organizations can deliver high-quality services at scale while minimizing latency, costs, and operational inefficiencies.
